Introduction

Welcome to birding.wiki! This is my personal bird wiki that I'm developing to record and organize my birding observations, experiences, and learnings. This public-facing wiki is built on BookStack App, the open-source wiki platform, which I host on a Digital Ocean droplet using a Docker container.

Getting started

I've published this project as a place to plan and build out different sections as it evolves over time. Click on "Shelves" above to view the different sections of the wiki or use the quick links below.

My birding websites

I enjoy birdwatching and technical projects like website and server management. So, I've created a few website projects to document and share information about birding.
