

Blue-gray Gnatcatcher

A Blue-gray Gnatcatcher begs for the food its parent is holding | 07/16/2022

Description

A small blueish-gray bird with a white eye ring. This bird loves to hide within the trees and is more often heard than seen, in my experience.

Personal stats

First observation

| | |
|---|-------------------------|
|  | 09/04/2013 |
|  | Los Angeles, California |

Captured media details

| | Male | Female | Unknown |
|---|------|--------|---------|
|  | | | ✓ |
|  | | | ✓ |

Experiences & anecdotes

05/11/2023 - I had a really special experience with this bird a few months ago. I was at Medina River Natural Area deep in the forest when I heard the calls of the Blue-gray Gnatcatcher. Standing still for about five minutes, I watched as a gnatcatcher in the nearby tree jumped around and sang. In the audio clip below, if you listen closely, you can hear the flutter of the bird's wings as it navigates the branches.

Captured media

Photographs

My first photo of this elusive bird. It was easy to spot this time as the tree had no leaves. | 08/15/2021

Audio recordings

- ML526943321 - 0:20
 - Listen to the complicated song of this small bird. The sound is pretty erratic. There may be a hint of calling in this clip. Notice the soft sound of wings fluttering.

<https://macaulaylibrary.org/asset/526943321/embed>

From my blogs

- Painted Buntings and Nesting Scissor-tailed Flycatchers

Revision #2

Created 12 May 2023 02:19:23 by Jeff Mann

Updated 24 May 2023 17:47:22 by Jeff Mann