

Lark Sparrow

A Lark Sparrow perched in a tree | 04/01/2023

Description

With streaking on its head and cheeks and a faint marking on its chest, the Lark Sparrow is a striking bird for a sparrow.

Experiences & anecdotes

05/11/2023 - As of today, I've only reported this bird seven times. I've seen it mainly on the ground looking for food, usually alone or in small groups.

  - This is a nice recording of the Lark Sparrow's song and the song of a Cassin's Sparrow. I heard both of these birds next to the parking lot over the fence. For some reason, the only place I hear the Cassin's sparrow is in this specific location at Medina River Natural Area.
